THE PRINTER'S TOIL.

Blow, ye stormy winds of winter,
Drive the chilly, drifting snow,
Closely housed, the busy printer,
Heeds not how the winds may blow.

Click, click, his type go dropping,
Here and there upon his case,
As he stands for hours popping
Every letter in its place.

Heaven send the useful printer
Every comfort mortals need,
For our nights were dull in winter
Had we not the news to read.

Sad would be the world's condition
If no printer boys were found;
Ignorance and superstition,
Sin and suffering would abound.

Yea, it is the busy printer,
Rolls the car of knowledge on,
And a gloomy mental winter
Soon would reign if he were gone.

Money's useful, yet the winters
Fill not half so high a place
As the busy, toiling printers,
Fingering type before the case.

Yet while the type they're busy setting,
Oft some thankless popinjay,
Leaves the country, kindly letting
Printers whistle for their pay.

Oh! ingratitude ungracious!
Are there on enlightened soil—
Men with minds so incapacious
As to slight the printer's toil?

See him! how extremely busy,
Fingering type before the case,
Toiling, till he's almost dizzy,
To exalt the human race.

To Young Men.

Whatever may be your choice of future occupation—whatever calling or profession you may select—there is certainly none more honorable than that of a farmer. The patriarch of the field, as he sits beside his cottage door when the toils of the day are over, feels an inward calm never known in the halls of pride. His labor yields him unpurchasable health and repose. I have observed, with more grief and pain than I can express, the visible tokens which appear in all directions, of a growing disposition to avoid agricultural pursuits and to rush into some of the crowded professions, because a corrupt and debased fashion has thrown around them the tinsel of imaginary respectability. Hence the farmer instead of preparing his child to follow in the path of usefulness he himself has trod, educates him for a sloth: labor is considered vulgar, to work is ungenteel, the jack-plane is less respectable than the lawyer's green bag, the handles of the plow less dignified than the yard stick. Unfortunate infatuation! How melancholy is this delusion, which, unless it be checked by a wholesome reform in public opinion, will cover our country with wreck and ruin! This state of things is striking at the very foundation of our national greatness. It is upon agriculture that we mainly depend for our continued prosperity, and dark and evil will be the day when it falls into disrepute. What other pursuit offers so sure a guarantee of an honest, independent family? Where else can we look but to the productions of the soil for safety of investment and for ample return? In commercial speculations all is chance and uncertainty, change and fluctuation, rise and fall.—In the learned professions scarce one in ten makes enough to meet his incidental expenses; how, then, are we to account for this fatal misdirection of public opinion? The cultivators of earth are the most virtuous and they are tied to their country and wedded to its liberty and interests by the most lasting bonds.—Fayette Union.

ECHO MEN.—There is no greater bore than a humble echo, that repeats and assents to whatever one suggests or asserts. It is a nuisance always to be coincided with. A man of sense likes to argue his points and prove his positions,

The whetstone of opposition sharpens his wit; but, met with a continual affirmative iteration of his own words, his game is blocked, and he is, so to speak, dumbfounded. On the contrary, a sententious "No, I don't think so," puts a man on his metal. If wrong, he has a chance to be set right, or of enjoying an honest triumph. To be in company with one who has no opinion but your opinion, is as bad as being caged with a macaw. If you ask an individual in the habit of agreeing with everybody, the reason of his complaisance, he may tell you, perhaps, that he hates controversy. Hates controversy! He might as well say he hates truth; for disputation is the crucible in which the gold of truth is separated from the alloy of error.

How many things were taken for granted in former ages, that modern argument has shown to be mere fallacies! The great object of the man of mind is to acquire knowledge; but he can learn nothing from those who are always ready to pin their faith on his sleeve without taking the trouble to think for themselves. We detest the suavity that is too polite to doubt, and the indifference that is too phlegmatic to argue.

☞The system of female education, as it now stands, aims only at embellishing a few years of life, which are in themselves so full of pleasure and happiness that they hardly need it, and then leaves the rest of existence a miserable prey to vacancy and idle insignificance. The real object of education is to give children resources that will endure as long as life endures, habits that time will ameliorate, not destroy, occupations that will render sickness tolerable, solitude pleasant, age venerable, life more dignified and useful, and death less terrible.

Lessons from an Old Merchant.

That veteran and honorable merchant, Jonathan Sturges of New York, at the dinner given in his honor on the occasion of his retirement from active business, gave the following golden counsel to young men:

Now, gentlemen, since there is nothing that I can talk about that you do not understand a great deal better than I do, I propose to say a few words for the benefit of the young men outside, and if you approve of what is said, let it be considered as said by this Grand Jury of Merchants now assembled.

One of the first lessons I received was in 1813, when I was eleven years of age. My grandfather had collected a fine flock of merino sheep, which were carefully cherished during the war of 1812-15. I was a shepherd-boy, and my business was to watch the sheep in the fields. A boy, who was more fond of his books than of sheep, was sent with me, but left the work to me, while he lay in the shade and read his books. I finally complained of this to the old gentleman. I shall never forget his benignant smile as he replied: "Never you mind; if you watch the sheep, you will have the sheep." I thought to myself: what does the old gentleman mean? I don't expect to have any sheep. My aspirations were quite moderate in those days, and a first rate merino buck was worth one thousand dollars. I could not make out exactly what he meant, but I had great confidence in him, as he was a judge, and had been to Congress in Washington's time, so I concluded that it was all right, whatever he meant, and went out contentedly with the sheep. After I got to the field I could not get that idea out of my head. Finally I thought of my Sunday lesson; "Thou hast been faithful over a few things, I will make you ruler over many things." Then I understood it: Never you mind who else neglects his duty; be you faithful, and you will have your reward; I do not think it will take many lads as long as it did me to understand this proverb.

I received my second lesson soon after I came to this city, as a clerk to the late Lyman Reed. A merchant from Ohio, who knew me, came to purchase goods of Mr. Reed. He expressed his gratification at finding me there, and said to me: "You have got a good place. Make yourself so useful that they cannot do without you." I took his meaning quicker than I did the proverb about the sheep. Well, I worked upon these two ideas until Mr. Reed offered me an interest in his business.

The first morning after the copartnership was announced, Mr. Jas. Geery, the old tea merchant, called to see me, and said to me; "You are all right now; I have one word of advice to give you: be careful who you walk the streets with." That was lesson number three.

In this connection I must repeat an anecdote told of the late Robert Lennox. A country merchant came into the store of Mr. Morton, a highly respectable Scotch merchant, to purchase goods. He spoke about credit, references, &c. Mr. Morton said: "I will give you what credit you wish.' 'But,' said the merchant, 'I am an entire stranger to you.' Mr. Morton replied: 'Yes, I was at church with him.' 'Well, I will trust any man whom Robert Lennox will take to church with him."

I hope these three lessons of watchfulness over the interests of their employers, watchfulness over their partners' interests and their own, after they are joined, followed by intense watchfulness that no black sheep creep into their folds, may be impressed by these anecdotes upon the minds of those for whom they are intended.

One other lesson I feel it very necessary to inculcate—that of patience.

With a little patience most young men will find a position as high as they have fitted themselves to fill.

In all the changes which have taken place in my firm since 1822, no partner has been brought in who has not served as a clerk in the establishment. And I now have my house well organized, prosperous and free from complications, still in the hands of those who have served in it as clerks for a longer or shorter period. I mention this as an encouragement to young men to persevere in the faithful performance of their duties.

HOME AFTER BUSINESS HOURS.—The road along which the man of business travels in the pursuit of competence or wealth is not a Macadamized one, nor does it ordinarily lead through pleasant scenes and by well-springs of delight. On the contrary, it is a rough and rugged path, beset with "wait-a-bit" thorns, and full of pit-falls, which can only be avoided by the watchful care of circumspection. After every day's journey over this worse than rough turnpike road, the wayfarer needs something more than rest; he requires solace and he deserves it. He is weary of the dull prose of life, and athirst for the poetry. Happy is the business man who can find that solace and that poetry at home. Warm greetings from loving hearts, fond glances from bright eyes, and welcome shouts of children, the many thousand little arrangements for comfort and enjoyment that silently tell of thoughtful and expectant love, the gentle ministrations that disencumber us into an old and easy seat before we are aware of it; these and like tokens of affection and sympathy constitute the poetry which reconciles us to the prose of life. Think of this, ye wives and daughters of business men! Think of the toils, the anxieties, the mortification and wear that fathers undergo to secure for you comfortable homes and compensate them for their trials by making them happy by their own firesides.

☞Faint heart ne'er won fair lady.

A Famous Cathedral.

The famous Cathedral or Minister of St. Peter, at Cologne, is one of the most magnificent specimens of Gothic architecture in the world. It was commenced in the year 1248, and is still very far from completion, although they expect it will be finished in 8 or 10 years. Its dimensions are as follows:—523 feet long, 523 wide, and 523 feet high, or rather these are the dimensions when completed. The two towers in front are at present but little higher than the roof, which is 230 feet. The interior is strictly grand, with its tall clustered columns running up to that wonderful height, the carved and fretted ceiling, the great window of stained glass in the end, the statues and other decorations, and the five glorious windows of stained glass presented by the King of Bavaria.—These latter are windows of rare beauty, executed in Munich within the last few years. A very neat spire rises from the centre of the Cathedral, and the Gothic ornaments on the roof, with the elaborate carvings over the entrances give the building a very rich and elegant appearance. When completed, according to the original design, it will no doubt be the grandest Cathedral in the world, excepting, perhaps, the Duomo, at Milan, whose myriad statues, marble material, and incomparable interior, give it the preeminence.

As every Cathedral must have some relics, this claims to have the bones of the three wise men who came from the East to worship the new-born Saviour at Bethlehem. This is about as preposterous a claim as the bones of Dives and Lazarus, which are pointed out in Jerusalem. But they have these bones set in jewels, but not only so, but three sculls have the names of the Magii written on them in rubies. The precious stones and gold about them are said to be worth six million dollors.

A strong effort is being made at present to complete this celebrated building. Societies are organized throughout Europe to collect funds, and a large force of workmen are engaged on it. It has been so long in course of erection that the old portion looks almost ready to fall, and if it be not hurried forward the century will be completed before the cathedral. A very strange spectacle is to be seen in the Church of St. Ursula. An immense collection of bones, skulls, legs, &c., are arranged in order around the church, to which the following legend is attached:—St. Ursula was the daughter of the King Brittany, who sailed up the Rhine with 11,000 virgins, and made the pilgrimage on foot from Basle to the city of Rome. On their return, they were all cruelly put to death by the Huns, because they would not break their vows of chastity, and their bones are preserved in this church built for the purpose, whilst Ursula is placed in the calendar as the patron saint of chastity.

HAS SHE A CALL TO BE A WIFE.—Has she a call to be a wife who thinks more of her silk dress than her children, and visits her nursery no oftener than once a day?

Has the woman a call to be a wife who sits reading the latest novel while her husband stands before the glass vainly endeavoring to pin together a buttonless shirt bosom?

Has that woman a call to be a wife who expects her husband to swallow diluted coffee, soggy bread, smoky tea and watery potatoes, six days out of seven?

Has she a call to be a wife who flirts with every man she meets, and reserves her frowns for the home fireside?

Has she a call to be a wife who comes down to breakfast in abominable curl papers, a soiled gown, and shoes down at the heel?

Has she a call to be a wife whose husband's love weighs naught in the balance with her neighbor's domask curtains or velvet carpet?

Has she a call to be a wife who bores her husband when he comes into the house with the history of a broken tea cup, or the possible whereabouts of a missing broom handle?

Has she a call to be a wife who takes a journey for pleasure, leaving her husband to toil in a close office, and "have an eye," when at home, to her servants?

Has she a call to be a wife to whom a husband's society is not the greatest of earthly blessings?

Has she a call to be a wife who listens to outside slanders against her husband, and does not scorn the slanderer?

WHAT IS A DARLING?—It is the dear little, beaming girl who meets one on the doorstep; who flings her arms around one's neck, and kisses one with her whole soul of love; who seizes one's hat, who relieves one of one's coat, and hands the tea and toast so prettily, who places her elfish form at the piano and warbles forth unsolicited, such delicious songs; who cast herself at one's footstool, and clasps one's hand, and asks eager, unheard of questions, with such bright eyes and flushing face, and on whose light, flossy curls one places one's hand and breathes "God bless her!" as the fairy form departs. But there is an angel following her footsteps, who is not visible to us, but who is anxious to bear our darling from us, and in the mind's eye its white shadow flits between us and the darling of our hearth.

☞A "lovely girl," in Wisconsin, recently recovered fourteen hundred dollars damage in a breach of promise suit against a perfidious lover. Her lawyer congratulated her on the am't when she exclaimed, with a ferocious glace at the mulcted defendant, and nervously clenching her fingers, "I'd give every penny of it just to have one good pull at his hair!"

Courtship in Various Countries.

A Leipsic correspondent of the Boston Gazette gives a lucid account of the manner in which courtships are conducted in Germany. There are, he says, no secret interviews and smuggled letters to inspire the heart of the young German. If he has anything to say he says it before anybody and everybody that happens to be in the room. If he calls upon the mistress of his affections he beholds her quietly knitting a stocking in the midst of the family circle, and with all this array of spectators must he unbosom his heart and win his bride. By unbosoming his heart we do not mean proposing. Unless he can watch a second behind a door in a ball room, or elude for an instant the watchful care of the young lady's guardians, the momentous question, "Will you have me?" and delicious answer, "Yes, dearest," will never be whispered among them at all.—He must go to paterfamilas, or some married friend whose affections are doubtless as withered as her features, and make them the mediators. When all is arranged, the arrangements announced, and the romance entirely over, then he can see the lady alone, take her occasionally to the theatre (when he wishes to do this before the engagement, he must also invite the mother of the girl, or the aforesaid withered relation), and indulge in a walk once a week. A lady who should throw off her reserve and openly accept the attentions of gentlemen, if she succeeded in keeping her character, would never win a husband. German men are not easily caught by appearances.

A cotemporary says this is German courtship in the rural districts, but not in the cities. To prove the assertion, the following facts, collected in 1848, are given;

MUNICH.

Whole number of births	4,464
Legitimate.	1,762
Illegitimate.	1,702

VIENNA.

Whole number of births	19,221
Legitimate	8,861
Illegitimate	10,360

Passing to laughing and polite France, we find that courtship is not as well regulated as in the rural districts of Germany, but more carefully guarded than in the German cities named. Statistics gathered in 1848 will substantiate this position, as will be seen by the following table of births in PARIS.

Whole number of births	40,875
Legitimate	29,680
Illegitimate	10,695

In England the pleasant pastime of courtship is evidently regulated by careful mothers as will be seen in the following table of births in

LONDON

Whole number of births	78,300
Legitimate	75,097
Illegitimate	3,203

In our own country courtship is not sufficiently guarded; but we can show a clearer record than either Munich, Vienna or Paris.

BIGOTRY.—Bigotry is the arch-fiend of this woe-begone world. Did he always stand out in his own drapery of sable boots, there would be very little trouble with him. But he takes the robes of religion, spirituality, even of freedom and liberality. But there is one certain test of his presence. It is the grave. At that sad bourne all human quarrels cease. Humanity there unbends the bow, lets fall the battle axe, and weeps with full heart over the prostrate brother laid away in his long sleep. Meek-eyed charity bends over the coffin, remembers all the good and worthy deeds, and forgets and forgives all the ill ones. But there is that which comes with rude and sneering lips, plucks deformity and spurns the coffin with a grin of contempt. That is Bigotry. No matter if clothed in the vestments of the holiest freedom and the most bloodless non-resistance, it is Bigotry; the fiend that has kindled all the "auto de fes," and Smithfield fires, and invented all the racks and thumb-screws that have yet been used in the absurd work of making men think alike.

MERMAIDS.—It is an undoubted fact that mermaids are numerous in the Kaw river in Kansas. Last week a party of young men out hunting came suddenly across six mermaids who were disporting themselves in the water. On the approach of the young men the beautiful creatures "lit out" for the woods, uttering shrill cries somewhat resembling the scream of frightened school girls. What made the matter more singular and mysterious is the fact that the young hunters found six waterfalls, six hoopskirts, and six various etceteras on the banks of the river. Naturalists will please make a note of this.

☞A drop of human blood placed under a microscope magnified twenty million times, would show all kinds of animals that ever existed, or now exist upon the earth. So says a German professor. In the blood of a healthy person the animals are quiet—in that of a sick person they fight. The natural German conclusion from all this is that the man has within him all the elements of the creation. Our Teutonic metaphysician further says that if a cat is flung into a pool of water, and left to decompose, a drop of the water will show, when under a microscope, all the animals belonging to the cat species.

☞Dr. Hall says that for the period of a month before marriage and a month after death, men regard their wives as angels.

PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD COMPANY.—The twenty-first Annual Report of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, by the President, J. Edgar Thompson, has just been published. It shows the earnings from the road for the past year to be $16,340,156 36. The amount received from passengers was $3,431,508 13; from emigrant passengers, $121,653 26; from freights, $11,332,299 67. The expenses were $12,080,299 64. This leaves the net earnings for the year $4,259,856 72.

On the 17th, Mr. Wharton read in place a bill relative to hawking and peddling in this county.

The Excitement in Washington.

The political contest in Washington between the President and Congress is coming to a head, and must be fought out—the sooner the better. The Tenure of Office law is either constitutional or it is not. The President takes the position that the law is unconstitutional and that he is not in duty bound to respect it, although he recognized it as constitutional when he suspended Mr. Stanton some months ago. The removal of Mr. Stanton now seems to be for the purpose of forcing the issue into Court where the President expects to be sustained. Perhaps in the struggle for the supremacy the President may be thrown overboard—be that as it may, the fight will go on until "somebody is hurt."

The House on Monday afternoon passed the impeachment resolution.—The President will be tried before the Senate, Chief Justice Chase presiding. The New York Times remarks:

"As to the length of the trial, it is the general belief that it will be very brief. It is conceded on all hands that but one article of impeachment is necessary, viz: That touching the violation of the Tenure of Office act and the Constitution in the absolute removal of an officer during the session of the Senate. It is thought that it should not last over two weeks at the outside.

"The President, however, will seek for much delay. He will demand time for preparation, and his friends assert that he can delay the trial until the end of his term.—Chief Justice Chase is pretty thoroughly occupied in the Supreme Court, and in addition he is expected to preside at the trial of Jeff. Davis, on the 22d prox. These engagements may possibly delay the commencement of the trial, but it is almost certain that it will be so urgently pushed, that it will take precedence of all other business."

THE TROUBLES AT WASHINGTON.—There are many exciting rumors flying over the country. The country's worst enemies to-day are those who counsel unlawful offering of services of men to suppress an imaginary armed opposition to the laws. When men are called for, with bayonet in hand, to protect our Constitution and laws, it will be time enough to answer to the tap of the drum. The exercise of a little common sense just now, might save some enthusiastic men from much trouble.

It is estimated that the receipts of gold from customs, from this date to May 1, will be $28,000,000, making an aggregate of $103,000,000, out of which there is payable on the first of March next $45,000,000, interest due on 10-40 bonds, and on the 1st of May about $27,000,000, interest due on 5-20 bonds leaving a balance on hand in gold, after paying all liabilities, of $71,800,000.

GREAT EXCITEMENT.

STANTON REMOVED.

GEN. LORENZO THOMAS APPOINTED AND ARRESTED.

THE PRESIDENT IMPEACHED.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21, 1868.

A few minutes before two o'clock to day, Colonel Moore, the President's acting private secretary, brought several sealed messages to the Senate, and it was soon ascertained that they were of an Executive character. A number of Senators, after the documents reached the desk of the presiding officer of the Senate, hurried to that place to learn their contents, which evidently occasioned much surprise among them. The information was soon conveyed to other Senators, who, in undertones, earnestly conversed on this matter of discovery. A number of the members of the House of Representatives who were present in the Chamber at the time, hastily repaired to their own side of the Capitol, and there reported the fact that the President had sent to the Senate a message that he had removed Mr. Stanton, and appointed General Lorenzo Thomas Secretary of War, ad interim. Thus within a few minutes, this act of the President was known in every part of the Capitol, producing much excitement. The truth that Gen. George H. Thomas had been nominated for the brevets of Lieutenant General and General, seemed to intensify the interest in the former proceeding, and produced speculations and inquiries as to what this mark of favor by the President really meant. There were at first rumors that the last named Thomas had been appointed Secretary, ad interim, but this was owing to a confusion of the two names. Senators Thayer, Cameron, Chandler and Cattell immediately drove to the War Department and obtained an interview with Secretary Stanton. They expressed to him the desire that he would not surrender his post, in obedience to the order of the President, until the Senate should act upon the matter, and Mr. Stanton indicated a compliance with their wish. It is not, therefore, true, as reported this evening, that Mr. Stanton made no objection to Adjutant General Thomas entering upon the duties of Secretary of War. It is true, however, that Gen. Thomas showed to Mr. Stanton the order of appointment from the President, and to this the General received a respectful, but not satisfactory reply. The Senators above named, after leaving Mr. Stanton, had an interview with General Grant, relating to him their conversation with Mr. Stanton, and suggesting their views as to what his conduct should be in the premises. About an hour after the Senators parted with Mr. Stanton, the latter sent to the House a copy of the letter addressed to him by the President, which was read and referred to the Committee on Reconstruction. The committee will have a meeting to-morrow to consider this, as well as the subject of impeachment proposed by Mr. Covode. The Senate, a few minutes after two o'clock, and as soon as Mr. Trumbull had concluded the remarks which he was making when his messages were received, went into an executive session, and continued therein seven hours. The matter of removal was fully discussed, and with much spirit in the secret session. Senator Edmunds offered a resolution, for which Senator Wilson moved a substitute, as follows:

Whereas, The Senate have received and considered the communication of the President, stating that he had removed Edwin M. Stanton as Secretary of War, and had designated the Adjutant General of the army to act as Secretary of War ad interim, therefore Resolved, By the Senate of the United States, that under the Constitution and laws of the United States, the President has no power to remove the Secretary of War and designate any other officer to perform the duties of that office.

This resolution of Mr. Wilson was agreed to without a division. The injunction of secrecy was removed and copies of the resolution were ordered to be communicated to the President, the Secretary of War and to Adjutant General Thomas. Many persons were attracted to the vicinity of the Senate to-night, but they were prevented from entering the galleries, owing to the fact that the proceedings were conducted with closed doors. The subject of the removal of Mr. Stanton and other matters in connection with it, afford the prominent feature of comment everywhere to-night.

11 P. M.—Secretary Stanton still retains possession of the War Department, and was there to night until a late hour.

The following is the correspondence laid before the House by the Speaker:

War Department, Washington City, Feb. 21, 1868.—SIR: General Thomas has just delivered to me a copy of the subjoined order, which you will please communicate to the House of Representatives.

EDWIN M. STANTON,
Secretary of War.

Hon. Schuyler Colfax, Speaker of the House of Representatives.

Executive Mansion, Washington, Feb. 21, 1868.—SIR: By virtue of power and authority vested in me, as President, by the Constitution and laws of the United States, you are hereby removed from office, as Secretary of the Department of War, and your functions as such will terminate upon receipt of this communication. You will transfer to Brevet Major General Lorenzo Thomas, Adjutant General of the Army, who has this day been authorized and empowered to act as Secretary of War ad interim, all records, papers, and other public property now in your custody and charge.

Respectfully, yours,
ANDREW JOHNSON.
President of the United States.

To the Hon. E. M. STANTON, Washington, D. C.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22.—Early this morning Mr. Stanton made an affidavit that General Lorenzo Thomas was attempting to act as Secretary of War, in violation of the Tenure of Office law, and prayed a warrant for his arrest. The warrant was issued by Chief Justice Cartter, of the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia, and was placed in the hands of Marshal Gooding and Deputy Marshal Phillips, and was served on General Thomas at his residence, while he was eating his breakfast.

He at once went with the officers, and was taken before Judge Cartter, at the City Hall, for a hearing, and they are now discussing what amount of bail shall be required for his release. Very few persons were at the City Hall during the examination, as it was not generally known that General Thomas had been arrested.

Feb. 22—12 M.—General Thomas, immediately on being released, repaired to the White House, and had no interview with the President, who instructed him to go to the War Department at once and take possession.—General Thomas, at fifteen minutes of 12, presented himself at the War Department, and went up stairs to the office of the Secretary.

There were assembled Secretary Stanton, General Grant, Gen. Howard, and several radical members of Congress. General Thomas demanded the keys of the office, but Secretary Stanton refused to give them. They are now discussing the matter, and I will give the result in my next dispatch.

General Thomas, on meeting Secretary Stanton at the War Office, demanded the keys, saying that he had been appointed Secretary of War by the President. Mr. Stanton replied that the President had no right to make such an appointment; that he held the office by the authority of the law, and should continue to hold it.

He told General Thomas that he was Adjutant General only, and ordered him to go to his room. General Thomas intimated that he would find a way to compel Mr. Stanton to respect his authority, to which Mr. Stanton replied that he would never yield except by actual force.

Feb. 22—1-15 P. M.—About fifteen minutes ago General Thomas, accompanied by Robert J. Walker, left the War Office, and Stanton now remains in undisputed possession. Walker came in during the colloquy between the two Secretaries, and he persuaded Thomas to leave and await the action of the Court before making an effort to get possession of the office.

THE RESOLUTION OF IMPEACHMENT.

In the meantime the matter had been under discussion in Congress, and finally culminated as follows:—

Mr. Stevens, of Pennsylvania, at ten minutes past two o'clock, rose to make a report from the Committee on Reconstruction.

The Speaker gave an admonition to the spectators in the gallery and to members on the floor to preserve order during the proceedings about to take place, and to manifest neither approbation nor disapprobation.

Mr. Stevens then said:—From the Committee on Reconstruction, I beg leave to make the following report:—That in addition to the papers referred to the Committee, the Committee find that the President, on the 21st day of February, 1868, signed and ordered a commission or letter of authority to one Lorenzo Thomas, directing and authorizing said Thomas to act as Secretary of War ad interim, and to take possession of the books, records, papers and other public property of the War Department, of which the following is a copy:—

Executive Mansion, Washington, D. C., February 21, 1867.—SIR:—The Hon. E. M. Stanton having been removed from office as Secretary of the Department of War, you are hereby authorized and empowered to act as Secretary of War ad interim, and will immediately enter upon the discharge of the duties pertaining to that office. Mr. Stanton has been instructed to transfer to you all records, books, papers and other public property entrusted to his charge.

Respectfully yours,
(Signed) ANDREW JOHNSON.

To Brevet Major-General Lorenzo Thomas, Adjutant-General, United States Army, Washington, D. C.
(Official copy).

Respectfully furnished to Hon. Edwin M. Stanton.

(Signed) L. THOMAS.
Secretary of War ad interim.

Upon the evidence collected by the committee which is hereafter presented, and in virtue of the powers with which they have been invested by the House, they are of opinion that Andrew Johnson, President of the United States, be impeached of high crimes and misdemeanors. They therefore recommend to the House the adoption of the accompanying resolution.

THADDEUS STEVENS,
GEORGE S. BOUTWELL,
JOHN A. BINGHAM,
C. T. BULBURT,
JOHN F. FARNSWORTH,
F. C. BEAMAN,
H. E. PAINE.

Resolved, That Andrew Johnson, President of the United States, be impeached of high crimes and misdemeanors.

THE LATEST.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24, 1868.

The President to-day, has nominated to the Senate, Thomas Ewing, Sr., of Ohio, to be the Secretary of War in place of Stanton, removed. Gen. Thomas was appointed only a Secretary ad interim.

The vote on the impeachment resolution was a strict party vote, and was carried.

Gen. Thomas called on Mr. Stanton again to-day and demanded the surrender of the office. Mr. Stanton again refused, when Mr. Thomas again retired.

Application for a writ against Mr. Stanton to show cause why he retains possession of the War Department will be applied for to-morrow.

The President sent a long message to the Senate this morning. The message concludes as follows:

"Although I have been advised by every member of my Cabinet that the entire tenure of office act is unconstitutional and therefore void, and although I have expressly concurred in that opinion in the veto message which I had the honor to submit to Congress, when I returned the bill for reconsideration, I have refrained from making a removal of any officer contrary to the provisions of the law, and have only exercised that power in the case of Mr. Stanton, which, in my judgment, did not come within provisions. I have endeavored to proceed with the greatest circumspection, and have acted only in an extreme and exceptional case. Carefully following the course which I have marked out for myself as a general rule, faithfully to execute all laws, though passed over my objections on the the score of constitutionality, in the present instance I have appealed or sought to appeal to that final arbiter fixed by the Constitution for the determination of all such questions. To this course I have been impelled by the solemn obligations which rest upon me to sustain inviolate, the powers of the high office committed to my hands.—Whatever may be the consequences merely personal to myself, I could not allow them to prevail against a public duty so clear to my own mind and so imperative. If that which was possible had been certain, if I had been fully advised, when I removed Mr. Stanton, that in defending the trust committed to my hands my own removal was sure to follow, I could not have hesitated. Actuated by considerations of the highest character, I earnestly protest against the resolution of the Senate, which charges me in what I have done with a violation of the Constitution and laws of the United States.

ANDREW JOHNSON.

The Globe.

HUNTINGDON, PA.

Wednesday morning, Feb. 26, 1868.

LOCAL & PERSONAL.

☞ Subscribers to The Globe will remember that they can discontinue their subscriptions at any time, and the amount paid on the same (after deducting for the time the paper may have been sent) will be refunded.

To Our Friends.

We propose to make considerable improvement in the appearance of the GLOBE early in the spring, if our friends will do their part by giving us the necessary encouragement. All arrearages can be paid up—and every good subscriber and friend can procure for the GLOBE an additional advance paying subscriber, which would give us support sufficient to enable us to give our patrons a much better paper than we can afford to give now. All our patrons would be gainers by merely using their influence to secure for us the necessary additional help. We cannot complain of the support we now receive from a generous public, but if it was more liberal we could give a better paper for the same money each subscriber now pays. Will our friends and patrons go to work immediately, that we may be able to make arrangements for the improvement at an early day.

Brief Items.

—Harrisburg has upwards of one thousand Odd Fellows.

—We understand that the Mount Union Times is to be revived.

—Tribe 88 of the I. O. of R. M., had a supper at Mr. Letterman's hotel on Thursday evening last. The Huntingdon Silver Band was also on hand.—The supper was tip-top, and all the evidence a man could ask to satisfy him that "mine host" Letterman knows how to keep a hotel.

—We are glad to hear that the people up Stone Creek are determined to have a railroad from this place to McAlavy's Fort. Mr. Kidder, a gentleman of ability and energy, has taken hold of the project in earnest and we hope he will have the satisfaction of soon seeing the road under contract.

—The Hollidaysburg Register says: "There is an establishment located in Altoona, where the practice of counterfeiting is carried on to an extent scarcely equalled, and certainly not surpassed, anywhere else in this section of country. The issues of the concern bear such striking resemblance to the articles counterfeited, that the proprietors are gaining a wide-spread reputation as practitioners in this line of business."

There was a large and attentive audience assembled at the Forge School House last night to hear the remarks of Mr. C. Kidder on the projected railroad from Huntingdon to McAlavy's Fort, when J. W. Miller a committee on resolutions, when the following were adopted:

Resolved, That we have a Railroad from Huntingdon to McAlavy's Fort.

Resolved, That we give the right of way up Stone Creek on reasonable terms.

Resolved, That we give water right free of charge.

Resolved, That we furnish ties for said road at 40 cents a piece.

Resolved, That we make the shares in said road ten dollars each and each of us take two shares.

The resolutions were read and unanimously adopted, when Mr. Kidder made a lengthy speech which was well received. Mr. Kidder is one of the best hands that could take hold of such an enterprise. G. Horning and S. C. Miller made a few remarks, and the meeting adjourned to meet at McAlavy's Fort on Friday next, when Mr. Kidder will address the meeting.

REPORTER.

BARREE, Feb. 18, 1868.

Death of Dr. H. K. Neff.

This eminent physician and true gentleman died at his residence in this place on Friday morning last, and his remains were followed to the Cemetery on Sunday afternoon, by a large concourse of friends and citizens. Dr. Neff was one of our most skillful surgeons and physicians, and his loss will be deeply felt by the community. He was employed as a surgeon in the army, and many instances of his skill are recorded, in which he alleviated the sufferings and perhaps saved the lives of his fellow-patriots by his timely attendance. Since his return home he has been in ill health, that fatal disease consumption having made him a prey to its ravages, but he never lost an opportunity to relieve his patients when called upon.

Dr. Neff possessed many social and manly qualities that endeared him to his associates, and the poor found in him a friend in deed. Thus our town and vicinity has lost the services of four eminent physicians within as many years—Doctors Dorsey, Luden, Snare and Neff.

Dr. Neff was 44 years of age.

Who is the Laziest Man in Town?

We are pleased to see that the Good Templars of this place, intend giving an opportunity to our citizens to vote on this question, at their Festival on Friday evening next. We predict it will call forth a lively interest, "just for the fun of the thing," and we presume the "goak" will be completed if some active Good Templar receives the distinguishing honor. We understand there are many eager candidates for the prize, and no doubt there will be as much electioneering as if somebody was going to be U. S. Senator; so nobody need be afraid of giving offence by voting for the candidates. A splendid Block and Gavel will be voted to the Society or Order in town receiving the highest number of votes. The Band will be present, and play their best airs. Admission 15 cents. Read advertisement.

Our friend Saml. A. Steel will offer at public sale on Friday, the 28th of February, one of the most valuable farms in the State, situate a few miles from Huntingdon. There are a great number of apple trees planted thereon, capable of bearing 2000 bushels yearly; also a large number of pear, plum and quince trees. See hand-bills. 2t

Minutes of Cassville Institute.

The teachers of Cass, Union, Clay and Carbon townships, met at Cassville Seminary, on the 7th and 8th of February, 1868, for the purpose of holding an Institute. On motion of D. F. Tussey, Prof. A. L. Guss, was elected Chairman, and Jesse D. Bucher, Secretary. D. F. Tussey, J. M. Wilson and S. H. Smith, were appointed to act as Executive Committee. While the Committee was arranging the programme for the Institute, the children of the Orphan School sang several appropriate pieces. The subject for discussion—"The best method for teaching Orthography,"—was discussed by Messrs. Weidman, Norris, Wilson, Tussey, Brode and Miss Phillips. Miss Phillips also conducted an exercise in Orthography; she was followed by D. F. Tussey, who gave different methods for spelling and dictation exercises. Institute adjourned.

Evening Session.

The exercises were opened by singing, reading of scripture, and prayer by Prof. Guss. Subject, "Why should we educate, and how can we make our Common Schools more efficient," was discussed by Messrs. Tussey, Norris, White, Lytle, Weidman, Guss and Cresswell.

On motion of J. M. Wilson, an interchange of questions was agreed upon. Quite a number were collected by the Secretary, and distributed by the Chairman among the Teachers present. Adjourned.

Saturday Morning.

Mr. James Norris, introduced the subject of Elocution and Reading. He read several pieces, one entitled, "The Driver," and another, "A Scene from Pickwick." Mr. White next gave his method of conducting a class. He was followed by J. W. Lytle, who also gave a specimen of reading. The following questions were then answered: "Do the meridians cross the equator at right angles?" "At what age should a child be taught to write?" "How shall we develop the physical powers of our pupils?" How can we remunerate our Teachers better?" and "Should whispering be allowed in school?" A great deal of interest was manifested by all present, in regard to the questions answered—especially the last question which was discussed by quite a number of teachers.

Afternoon Session.

The subject of Arithmetic was introduced by Mr. John Mierly, who entertained the audience most agreeably and profitably. He denounced the practice of having scholars commit rules and notes as a practice that was liable to confuse young pupils, and said, that it was only necessary to have them study the rules so as to be able to understand and apply them. Mr. White followed explaining the rules of Arithmetic, and his method of instruction as applied to young pupils. Grammar was introduced by Mr. White, who explained his mode of teaching the parts of speech. Mr. Weidman illustrated Analysis, and showed its importance. J. E. Glasgow next gave his method of teaching the parts of speech. D. F. Tussey, A. L. Guss, and S. L. Glasgow, spoke of the importance of teaching grammar at all times to children. Several questions were called for and answered, after which Institute adjourned.

Evening Session.

Institute opened by singing, reading scriptures, and prayer by S. W. Heaton. Prof. A. L. Guss, requested the teachers and friends of the Institute to address the children of the Orphan School. D. F. Tussey, S. L. Glasgow and J. W. Lytle, ably responded to the call. They spoke of the nobleness of purpose which prompted the fathers of the children to sacrifice their lives for the country they loved, urged the children to obey their teachers in all things, and pointed them to the fields of usefulness they will be required to fill.

The discussion of the previous evening was continued by Messrs Tussey, J. E. Glasgow, Brode, B. F. Glasgow, S. L. Glasgow, Cresswell, Guss, Lytle and Mierly.

The following resolution by J. E. Glasgow, was adopted:

Resolved, "That the teachers and friends of this Institute, ask our present State Legislature to pass an act to grant a sufficient appropriation to keep our common schools open six months in the year."

On motion of J. W. Lytle a vote of thanks was tendered to Prof. Guss, for the kind and hospitable manner in which he entertained the teachers and friends of the Institute.

A vote of thanks was also tendered to D. F. Tussey, for his services.

The children of the Orphan School entertained the audience by singing several excellent pieces, and performing dialogues and comic speeches.

On account of the inclement weather, and the Institute being postponed one week later than first announced, the attendance of teachers was not so large as was expected. But there was a sufficient number present to make the Institute interesting and profitable.

Communion Wine.

We have been shown specimens of sacramental or pure juice wine, prepared by Mr. Alfred Speer of Passaic, New Jersey, out of the Port Grape, which he cultivates in this country.—In taste it assimilates to port, without its heating qualities, being absolutely free from spirits further than its own fermentation affords. Preference is given to it over all other wines in New York and other hospitals as a tonic, gentle stimulant, diuretic and sudorific. Mr. Speer has been nine years experimenting in the production of this wine, and the newest wine he sells is four years old, of which our druggists have got in a supply.

FIRE.—Mr. Edward Zuerner's house, with its contents, including some meat and all the wearing apparel of the family, was destroyed by fire about 6 o'clock on the 14th. The house was situated in the upper end of Black Log Valley, about a mile from the Juniata county line. The fire originated from a candle in the cellar setting fire to some tow, the flames spreading so rapidly that nothing could be saved. Mr Zuerner is a hard working farmer and has a large family. He had no insurance on the property, and is therefore left dependent on the neighbors—Mt. Union Herald.

It is said that adding to coal oil one fourth its weight of common salt in the kerosene lamp makes the light much more brilliant and clear, keeps the wick clean, and prevents smoking.

Not Our Fault.

We are very often asked why we did not publish this or that marriage, and the answer invariably is that we did not know anything about it. It is the officiating minister's duty to hand it in. The parties married expect him to do so, and it is a great accommodation to the printers. Some of our ministers, we are glad to say, are very prompt, but others very negligent. The best way, perhaps, would be to patronize those only who are willing thus to oblige the happy couple and the much-abused editor, and let the rest starve awhile.

We are sometimes questioned similarly in regard to deaths; and the same remarks may apply to them. We are ready to publish death notices, but the public should not suppose that we know all who die, nor their names or ages.

☞ We call attention of our readers to the advertisement in another column of the "Improved Star Shuttle Sewing Machine." This machine is sold at about one-half the price of other first class machines. It has a beautiful, noiseless movement and does to perfection all kinds of plain and fine sewing.

The sales are rapid and there is an increasing demand for the machines wherever they are introduced.

Agents will find in the sale of this machine, an opportunity rarely offered to make money.

THE new Minnesota State Normal School, to be erected at Winona during the coming year, is to be an elegant structure, one hundred and sixty feet in length and ninety-four deep, built on an entirely new and highly ornamental plan. It will cost $200,000.

Speer's Wines

Are the pure juice of the grape, and are unexcelled by any native vintage. They contain valuable medicinal properties, and are of intrinsic worth to the invalid and the convalescent, strengthening the weak, and restoring the system to tone and vigor. Sickly persons and females should try them.

MEDICAL ELECTRICITY

BY

DR. WILLIAM BREWSTER,

M'CONNELLSTOWN, PA.,

For the benefit of those proposing to undertake Electrical treatment for diseases we give in the following list a few of the more prominent and most common complaints met with in our practice, in all of which we are most successful. In NEARLY ALL CASES of CHRONIC DISEASE, ELECTRICITY IS A SURE REMEDY, AND IN ALL CASES BENEFICIAL, IF PROPERLY APPLIED. Those, therefore, afflicted, with complaints not here enumerated, need have no hesitation in applying, and whether only RELIEF, or a PERMANENT CURE can be effected

Items of General News.

The director of statistics furnishes a table showing that the actual revenue derived by the General Government from the use of distilled spirits in the United States, during the fiscal year ending June 30th, 1863 to 1867 inclusive, or for five years, were $135,356,355 currency, or a total average of $27,071,271 currency per annum.

Among the debts itemized in the petition of John W. Steele ("Coal Oil Johnny"), of Oil City, claiming bankruptcy, is a hotel bill of $19,000, and a cigar bill of $5,000. Steele is the millionaire who created such a furore in Oil City and elsewhere some time since with his $2,000 a day income.—He is now driving team in the oil regions. "Sich is life."

A Richmond, Virginia, correspondent says that everywhere during the day one meets freedmen, women and children going to and fro with baskets to the several soup-houses established by the Government in different localities to keep these unfortunate people from starving. There is no work for them and they are perfectly destitute. The county pays for their soup and wood, and scanty enough is the supply they get of both.

T. P. Pinkham, seventy-one years of age, died suddenly in Lafayette, Indiana, last week. He was in good health till about half an hour before his death, when he went down stairs and remarked, "I am going home in half an hour—in thirty minutes—I shall be a corpse." He quietly proceeded to give directions about his business, and, commending his soul to his Maker, expired in exactly thirty-four minutes. His relatives wanted to go for a doctor; but he said, "It is no use; I shall go hence in half an hour."

A few days since here, a boy discovered a snake, and killed it by shooting the reptile through with his arrow.—Soon afterwards another boy placed himself behind a tree, and exposing one of his hands, challenged the other to "shoot at the target." The banter was accepted, and with the same arrow which had just pierced the snake, fired at the exposed hand, and struck it nearly in the centre, inflicting a slight wound. In a few hours the hand and arm of the lad began to swell, showing that poison from the snake had been communicated by means of the arrow. The youth suffered intense agony, and after lingering in this horrible condition for three days, expired.—[Montgomery (Alabama) Mail.

A letter received from an American citizen at Beyrout, Syria, dated Jan. 2, says, John C. Breckenridge was there on January 1, making inquiries with regard to traveling through Syria. He denied all claims to the privileges of a citizen of the United States, and appeared much affected while conversing upon the affairs in America.—When asked if he intended to return to the United States, he said he had no wish to become a martyr, and should not return until he could do with personal safety; and that no other country could be his home. He also said, with reference to affairs here, that as the war was over, and the appeal to the sword had been decided against those with whom he had been associated, he was now willing to shoulder his gun, like any other man in defence of his country. He, however, spoke of matters here in the tone of a foreigner. The same letter states that Jacob Thompson and other leading rebels were wandering about Turkey.

ROMAN CATHOLICS IN THIS COUNTRY.—So little attention has been paid by the daily press to the condition of the Catholic Church, that few persons are aware of the progress it is making in this country. In 1860 the "American Cyclopædia" estimates that there were only a little over 3,000,000 Catholics in the United States adhering to their doctrines. The best Catholic authorities now declare that nearly five millions of persons belong to their denomination.

In 1850 there were in Rhode Island and Connecticut only 16,000 Catholics; there are now 125,000. At the same time Pennsylvania contained 89,591, while there are at present 275,000 in the diocese of Philadelphia alone. In Illinois there were 29,100, and the district about Chicago alone now counts 150,000. The dioceses of Albany and Buffalo have 430,000, against 126,288 in the whole State of New York in 1850; and there are 90,000 in Michigan, while in 1850 there were 16,122.—N. Y. Post

Out in Illinois, a Justice of the Peace was recently elected who is not particularly noted for legal attainment. Wishing to have a little fun, a friend asked him what he would do were a case of mayhem brought before him for trial? The 'Squire looked a little puzzled at first, but soon began to look wise and said: "I had a case of that kind when I was Squire before, so I just ordered the fellow to jail, and after staying there for a week, he was willing to marry the girl!"

A well known minister of New York, repudiates the received theory that they have music in heaven. He declares that his choir has given him so much trouble on earth, that the idea of music in the world to come is wholly repugnant to his ideas of eternal peace and rest.

A PERFECT TIME-PIECE FOR ONE DOLLAR.

Let every Housekeeper, Farmer, Mechanic, and Traveler, or buy our

SOLAR WATCH,

or Perpetual Portable Sun-Dial.

Warranted to keep True Time for every Day of the Year

This valuable instrument, which is warranted by us to give the true time of day throughout the year, is constructed on strictly scientific principles, being based on astronomical tables and calculations, and affording the truest measure of time which human ingenuity and skill can devise, exceeding in accuracy and reliability the most perfect chronometers; whilst the low price at which we offer it to the public places it within the reach of all. Its portability makes it convenient for travelers, and to every farmer or householder it must prove invaluable to regulate their clocks and watches by the most infallible test recognized by science.

The mode of using the "Solar Watch" is the simplest that can be devised. After screwing the Style or Gnomon in its place in the moveable brass head and setting it directly over the straight line corresponding to the date, or that nearest to it on the cylinder, the instrument is placed upright in the sunshine in such a position as will throw the shadow of the Style directly upon the line under it. After placing the plumb-line, by means of its brass attachment, at a right angle with and to the left of the Style, in order to set the cylinder perfectly level, the point where the extremity of the shadow falls, and its distance from any of the wavy or cross lines exhibiting the morning and corresponding afternoon hours, will indicate the true time of day.

The whole apparatus, consisting of a Cylinder and Diagram, moveable Brass Head, Style, Plumb line, and Brass attachment for the same, neatly put up in compact boxes, is sold by us at the incredibly low price of ONE DOLLAR.
